Proposals being accepted

Funds available for community use

The City of Tacoma is currently accepting proposals for next year's Community Development Block Grant program.

Tacoma expects to receive about $3.5 million from the Department of Housing and Urban Development for community development projects and related administrative costs. The federal funds can be used for housing and neighborhood improvement programs, economic development, historic preservation and under certain circumstances social services. All programs are intended to benefit low and moderate income persons or to eliminate slums and blight.

Projects can be submitted by individuals, neighborhood groups, community agencies and city departments. All proposals must be submitted to the Community Development Department by Sept. 18th at 5 p.m.

Proposal application forms are available in the offices of the Tacoma City Clerk, 3rd Floor, County-City Building, and the Community Development Department, 10th Floor, 740 St. Helens Ave. A limited number of forms are available in the Tacoma Public Libraries.

Tacoman receives Howard University appointment

Tacoma resident Ted Sims has accepted the position of chief engineer of WHMM-TV Channel 32. WHMM is the new Public Broadcasting station at Howard University in Washington D.C. He will assume the position on September 8, 1980. Mr. Sims will be responsible for completion of the five million watt, multi-million dollar facility in preparation for its on-the-air date scheduled for sometime this fall. "Though both my wife and I have ambivalent feelings about leaving Tacoma, this is a tremendous opportunity for me. Communications and the media are fields that are of vital importance to the economic and cultural development of Blacks all over the world. There is a technical revolution taking place right now in tele-communications and I am extremely happy to be a part of it."

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger

Chief Justice to open new law center

Unique on the West Coast and one of only a few such facilities in the nation, the University of Puget Sound Norton Clapp Law Center in downtown Tacoma will be officially dedicated Sept. 13.

The ceremonies will honor Norton Clapp, chairman of the UPS Board of Trustees, and feature a rare Northwest appearance by Warren E. Burger, Chief Justice of the United States.

The 4 p.m. Saturday program at the center includes the official public dedication by Lowry Wyatt, senior vice president of the Weyerhaeuser Company and vice chairman of the UPS board, and remarks by the Chief Justice. Also taking part in the program are 9th Circuit Judge Eugene A. Wright, chairman of the University's Board of Visitors for the School of Law, UPS President Philip M. Phibbs and acting dean of the law school, Donald S. Cohen.

Public tours of the facilities will follow the ceremonies. Invited guests will gather for dinner and dancing later that evening in Tacoma's Bicentennial Pavillion.

Soon to be one of the few functioning law centers in the United States, the facility will integrate three important aspects of legal education: public service, practical experience and comprehensive legal education. The center includes a number of individual components:

--The 750-student law school;
--Facilities for the Washington State Court of Appeals, Division II;
--A continuing legal education program for attorneys;
--A comprehensive library with sophisticated computer research capabilities;
--Office space for lease by practicing attorneys and other legally related enterprises.

The $11 million center, cited by community leaders as "a key catalyst for the rebirth of downtown Tacoma," will be housed at South 11th Street and Broadway Plaza, site of the old Rhodes Department Store.

The downtown location, only blocks away from federal and state courts, combined with the location of the Washington State Court of Appeals within the complex itself, provides a unique opportunity to interact with the judicial community. In addition, the center was designed to foster frequent contact with members of the legal community housed in the center and nearby in the business district.

Many of the center's facilities, including the law library, will be available for use by area legal practitioners.

The law school portion opens for classes Sept. 2, with

Artists to perform in community

A dancer performs in a retirement home, a bass-baritone sings at a club luncheon, a cellist works with young string players and an actress talks about theatre to women in a state prison.

These are just examples of what four professional performing artists will be doing in the Pierce County area as part of the Ben. B. Cheney Foundation Affiliate Artists Residency Series. The Series presented by the Tacoma-Pierce County Civic Arts Commission will be a new approach to the 56-day Affiliate Artist Residency Program the Commission has presented in the past three years. The artists will spend one week each in the community.

The Civic Arts Commission is accepting scheduling proposals from local organizations to host an appearance of an artist at no cost to the organization. For further information call Victoria Hamilton at 593-4754.

Actress Niki Flacks will be available from October 27 through November 1. Flacks has performed with major regional and repertory theatres, on Broadway, off-Broadway, on television and in motion pictures. Her Broadway debut was in Tyrone Guthrie's 1966 revival of Dinner at Eight. Later she starred with Maggie Smith in Private Lives and in the Hal Prince production of Leonard Berstein's musical, Candide.

Bass-Baritone Donnie Ray Albert's most heralded success has been in the Houston Grand Opera's production of Porgy and Bess in which he appeared in New York and Philadelphia in 1976, on a fourteen-week coast-to-coast tour in 1977, a tour to Europe and Israel during 1977-78, and on the RCA Red Seal full-length recording. During the 1978-79 season, Albert made his New York City Opera debut in La Fanciulla del West, a role he also performed with the Houston Grand Opera.

Since 1979 Albert has hung major roles with the Chicago Lyric Opera, Boston Concert Opera and at Fort Worth, Texas. During 1981 his performance of Alidoro in La Cenerentola at the University of Victoria will be broadcast nationally by PBS. He will be available for scheduling between January 12 and January 17.

Dancer/Choreographer Bill T. Jones studied Afro Caribbean and West African Dance with Percival Borde and Pearl Primus, jazz with Cor Poleman in Amsterdam, Holland and modern dance at the State University of Brockport. Combining his talents in acting and modern dance techniques Jones has developed his own solo repertory. He has performed with the San Francisco based theatre collective, The Jones Company and the Cliff Keuter Dance Company, and at various concert halls and festivals in New York City including the Merce Cunningham Dance Studio the American Dance Festival and the Clark's Center Dance Festival.

Most recently, Jones has appeared at "The Kitchen" in New York City, presenting two original works, and at the American Theatre Lab. Jones is scheduled for April 13 to April 18.

The Artists Residency Series is made possible through funds provided by the Ben B. Cheney Foundation, City of Tacoma and County of Pierce.

Virginia Taylor's Outside Looking In

Tom Dixon, TUL president gave a very inspiring report on the National Urban League Convention to the Saturday morning Black Collective. He stated that NUL president Vernon Jordan was making a good recovery and he plans to return to work the week after Labor Day. The presidential candidates spoke to the delegates. Tom Dixon stated the concensus was that we must choose by weighing what either of them can offer the Black community. Jordan urged the participants to listen carefully to what each candidate had to say and spread the word accordingly. Other speakers at the convention were United Nations Delegate Donald Mc Henry--on foreign affairs, Representative Shirley Chisolm, who said it's time to roll up our sleeves and fight for our gains and minimize our losses, and Dorothy Hoight, president of the National Council of Negro Women, who delivered the keynote speech. She spoke on the importance of the struggle.

Tom Dixon also mentioned that EDA (Economic Development Administration) had granted 5 million dollars to the National Urban League to assist Locals with economic development projects--best thing to come out of the conference from my point of view.

The National Urban League Research Department has just completed a needs assessment survey. Some of the findings were a bit contrary to common opinion. Here's one--maintaining strong kinship ties continues to be of significance in the Black community; about half (46%) of all Black families have regular family reunions.

The complete report can be seen at the TUL, 2550 So. Yakima.

This week Representative Barbara Granlund, 26th legistative district, will be among the guests at the Collective meeting. Friday, August 29th, at the Huntsman, there will be a testimonial no host dinner to honor Zakyia Stewart, former assistant superintendent for AA and Training for Tacoma Public Schools, who retired to become a full-time mother and housewife. I can truly say Zakyia's presence in Tacoma was felt and appreciated--she made a difference and we are going to miss her. She's a beautiful person.

Attended the Art Bowl at Stadium Saturday. We should have more community (city-wide) events--it was fun. Ready-Made Family got down. I mention them in particular because they have been together a long time.
They were kids (11 - 15 yrs old) when I first met them, now they are young men--still making music--great!

Speaking of music, saw Maurice Alexander--he's with the Washington State Department of Commerce's Office of Economic Development in Olympia. He's quite a musician; we were reminiscing about the pre-disco days when live music was in--looks like its coming back--I hope so!

The Afro Pageant Committee is raffling a side of beef and 50 dollars worth of gasoline on September 21st. Tickets are available thru the Afro Center, 6 for $5.00 or one dollar each. The money goes into the Afro Queen Scholarship Fund. Help out by calling 572-5557--we will deliver.

Minorities, women and handicapped people who have applied for jobs with Pierce County, and were not hired, please contact Mr. James Patterson, 272-5655.

TEEN SCENE

by Kim Bailey

Saturday morning and throughout the afternoon some members of NEMT (New Expressions Modeling Troupe) were getting a new look. Joyce Gordon, a beautician from Oakland, California, came up to style, cut and perm some of the members of NEMT.

With my new cut, me and a few of my friends went to Skate King to view the finals of the Roller Disco Skating Contest sponsored by KYAC. It was quite crowded but I did happen to see a few familiar faces like Joe Bradford, Sinora Nelson and sister Tera, Adrienne Breckenridge, and Daryl Hunter. It was a very exciting contest and I'll give you the winners next week.

Don't forget about the Labor Day dance at the Bicentennial Pavillion, sponsored by KTOY'S Music Power Giants and starring Disco D. Pay $2.00 in advance or $2.50 at the door. Should be all the way live.

Please address news of your happenings, parties, etc., to me, Kim Bailey C/O The Tacoma Facts, 1036 So. Sprague Ave, Tacoma, 98405, Ph. 627-5597. I'd also like to include your poems, drawings and short stories in my column. This is our spot in The Tacoma Facts. Let's use it!

mittee in October, and the committee will recommend to the City Council which projects should be funded. The City Council will make the final determination of the use of Community Development funds in December and an application will be submitted to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) in March, 1981. Approved projects will be implemented afetr June, 1981.

Prior to making project recommendations, the Urban Policy Committee will hold three public hearings to hear citizens views about the needs of various neighborhoods and about proposals that will meet those needs. The hearings will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Stanley School, 1712 S. 17th St., on Sept. 8; at Mckinley School, 3702 Mckinley Avenue, on Sept. 10; and at South Park Community Center, 4851 South Tacoma Way, on Sept. 11. Proposal application forms will be available at the public hearings.

A proposal application workshop is scheduled for Sept. 13 at 10 a.m. for anyone who needs information or assistance filling out an application. The session will be held in the old Council Chambers, 3rd Floor, County-City Building.

1981-82 BLOCK GRANT FUNDS

Pierce County plans to apply for a $3.4 million Community Development Block Grant which will be used for neighborhood improvements between July, 1981 and June, 1982. During the next few months YOU can help us develop an application which meets National Objectives of providing decent housing, a suitable living environment and expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income levels.

In the past, residents of the County and the sixteen Cities and Towns, submitted neighborhood improvement proposals which resulted in a $11-million investment in:

- preservation of historic sites
- new neighborhood parks
- new multi-purpose centers
- new senior activity centers
- sewer and water improvements
- making public places accessible to the handicapped

You are encouraged to think about Pierce County's future by identifying community needs requiring immediate attention and suggest solutions. You have several opportunities to share your ideas with us. We have planned a series of public workshops to explain application forms, Community Development Block Grant Application requirements and to answer your questions. You can submit a project for funding to the Citizens Advisory Committee which recommends a Community Development Program to the Board of County Commissioners. You will also have a chance to comment on the program when the Board of County Commissioners considers the final application.

TARGET NEIGHBORHOODS

A federal policy requires that Community Development Block Grant funds be used for concentrated neighborhood improvements, and to encourage coordination with other federal, state and locally funded capital improvements. Therefore, it is necessary that neighborhoods be identified as having significant concentrations of low and moderate income families or deteriorated housing. It is within these target neighborhoods that Block Grant funded activities will be emphasized and given priority.

Project proposals will be accepted from other areas throughout the County provided it can be clearly demonstrated that lower income persons are principally benefitted, that activities are necessary to eliminate neighborhood blight or deterioration, or to alleviate a serious and immediate threat to the health or welfare of area residents.

APPLICATION TIMETABLE

The application for Community Development Block Grant funds will be developed according to the following tentative schedule:

Oct. 20 to Nov. 14 —	Citizen Advisory Committee Develops Program Recommendations
Mid Dec. 1980	Board of County Commissioners Public Hearing on Preliminary Application for Submittal for Areawide Review
Mid Jan. 1981	A-95 Clearinghouse Subregional Review
Mar. 1981	Board of Commissioners Public Hearing on Final Application for Submittal to HUD
Mar. 1981	Final Application Submitted to HUD
July 1981	1981 — 82 Program Year Begins

NOTICE

Specific dates, times and any changes in the above meeting schedules will be published at a later date in this paper.

Recession Summer: Part VIII

Investment alternatives for smart savers

by Ophelia Taylor

Investing

This summer we have discovered a variety of ways to save our money. Now is the time for us to learn ways to invest. One of the most popular means of making money is investing in real estate, but I will discuss only stocks, bonds, and mutual funds. The discussions will be limited to helping start the learning process regarding investing. Whether you have a regular $50.00 to invest every month or a big inheritance to place safely, be assured that you and your money need not be soon parted, but held onto and probably increased.

Stocks

A stock is your investment in a company; it gives you a part ownership and it entitles you to a share of all profits. Let's assume that you and I decide to form the Pseudo Corporation. We invest $10,000 capital to get started; each of us invests $5,000 and we issue common stock to ourselves for that amount. We are then set up to share equally in profits and losses. This constitutes the basic structure of a corporation. An owner of common stock shares in the profits of a company, and a portion of the profits is usually distributed four times a year as dividends. Preferred stock is offered to common stockholders; and it differs from common stock in that a fixed dividend, that is not affected by profits, is paid to its holders. Preferred stock offers considerably less risk than common stock in that if the company goes bankrupt, after liquidation of property and equipment, preferred stockholders would be paid. Preferred stock may have a convertable feature, that is, you can change the preferred to common when its profitable, when there is a large dividend to be paid.

About taxes

Your investments are subject to federal government, and in some cases, state and city taxes. It depends on where you live. The other tax you may suffer is the capital gains tax. This tax is based on the difference between the purchase and sale price of your stock. You do not have to worry about this tax until you sell your security; even if it doubles or triples in value over the years you own it. If you sale your security at a loss, the loss may be deducted on your tax return--which means money.

Bond opportunities

A bond is your loan to a company; it entitles you to receive interest and repayment of the loan by the company at specified times. Bonds are usually sold in units of $1,000.00. The interest rates of bonds is higher than interest rates at banks and credit unions. Bonds mean a company will pay you interest and will pay back the total loan at maturity. You collect the interest in one of two ways. If the bond is registered, you receive a check every six months. If it is a bearer or coupon bond, your bond certificate will carry coupons and every six months the company sends your bank a deposit. Remember, the amount of interest a bond pays stays constant year after year until maturity, or until it is called. Thus a 7% $1,000.00 bond will always pay $70.00 interest regardless of how much interest rates rise or fall.

Bonds are rated as the ability of companies to pay interest and principle (face value) as promised. These ratings are AAA, AA, A, BBB, and so forth. The highest rating, that is the lowest risk, is AAA. You can appreciate that the greater the risk, the higher the interest will have to be. Check the Standard and Poor's Bond Guide for the rating of a bond you are considering.

Government bonds, notes, bills

There are three kinds of government bonds: those issued by the federal government, political subdivisions(such as states, counties, towns) and municipal bonds, and those issued by authorities, such as turnpike, bridge, tunnel or port authorities. Like corporate bonds, these bonds are contracted arrangements to borrow money for a specified length of time and rate of interest. The United States Treasury sells notes and bills. The difference between them is the lenth of time between the date they are issued and the date they come due for payment. Bonds may not mature for ten to twenty years. Notes mature in less than five years, bills in a matter of months.

Interest on bonds issued by the federal government is fully taxable. Only interest on municipal bonds (those issued by political subdivisions and authorities) is free of federal tax. If your income is less than 40 percent of your tax obligation, you will probably find that the extra income from the taxable bonds is worth more to you than the savings on a tax-free bond. Check with your money manager or banker for your particular answer.

Mutual funds.

Mutual funds meet two needs: diversification of your investments and full-time management of them.

If you have less than $5,000.00 and invest in the stock of one company, your portfolio is 100 percent depended on the price changes of that one security. On the other hand, if you invest your $5,000.00 equally in four different securities, your portfolio is only 25 percent dependent on the price change of any one of them. Mutual funds permit you to spread your risk a great deal further. Your broker can and will develop the best plan for your needs. Your specified objective may involve growth, income, or some of both. Discuss this with your broker.

Tony Brown's Journal

Some observers have arrived at the erroneous conclusion that Black Americans are divided by socioeconomic class distinctions, occupational differences and educational achievement.

That is not to say that all Blacks are a socioeconomic class, occupational and educational monolith either. Unlike non-ethnic Whites, Afro-Americans are held together largely by reality that no single member of the group can succeed in escaping racism and its debilitating effects.

Oh yes, you have heard some Blacks say that they have never been "discriminated against." They say so out of an ignorance of the fact that the American White society has already discriminated against them by defining and treating them as members of an oppressed group, and not as individual members of a free social order.

Therefore, a Black biophysicist with two Nobel prizes and five advanced degrees is, as the joke goes, "still a nigger." With this reality as an umbrella, the only viable avenue of escape from group persecution is through group unity.

This realization has been the linchpin in BEEP for over ten years now. BEEP is an acronym for Black Executive Exchange Program, a part of the development cluster of the Career Training and Economic Resources Department of the National Urban League.

In 1969, thanks to a grant from the Ford Foundation, BEEP received official status; it was initially launched as a pilot project in 1965 to help educators gain a better understanding of industry's operations, job requirements and manpower needs. They got an inside view of where their students were headed.

But although these faculty members had become "doers" and not just "tellers," as BEEP Director Renee Du Jean describes them, the students at the Black colleges still lacked a clear view of the professional work process. They also wondered about the real chances of a Black to succeed in the White business world.

"So we asked business, industry and government to loan to BEEP their ranking Black executives and professionals to serve as visiting professors and conduits of information to break down the credibility gap between classroom theory and actual practice," explains energetic Renee Du Jean, who lives, breathes and talks BEEP. Today more than 1,800 Black men and women spend time on the Black college campuses passing on information about the employment opportunities, career choices and talents needed to succeed in the business world.

BEEP Advisory Committee Chairman Gilroye A. Griffin, Jr., a vice president at Bristol-Myers Co., still finds it hard to believe how eager the students are to learn and how effective the program is. "Students soaked up the information like sponges. And, like sponges, the knowledge we shared was the water that expanded them." BEEP puts Black students years ahead of those not exposed to the program.

But new information just arrived. BEEP executives revealed the hard, cold realities of being Black in corporate America at the 11th Annual Seminar in a survey conducted by Regina Nixon of the Urban League. The study found that more than half still feel that their careers are limited by racism.

Of the 303 executives at the 1,300 largest U.S. companies, 54 percent perceived their opportunity for advancement "somewhat limited" and 60 percent believed a "ceiling" was placed on how far they could go.

Nearly half believed that "unwritten" rules exist that blocked their career advancement and about 80 percent see no chance of ever becoming their company's chief executive officer, no matter how able they were.

The fact that these Blacks who have "made it" know from first-hand knowledge that they are Black first, in the eyes of many of their superiors, makes the concept of a BEEP understandable.

It's an example of self-help or, you might say, of Blacks blowing--BEEPing--their own horn.

United Way kicks off at Pavilion

United Way of Pierce County will kick off its 1980 campaign on September 11 at 11:45 a.m. at Tacoma's Bicentennial Pavilion to the theme of "It's a New Ballgame." H. Dennis Halvorson, 1980 Campaign Chairman, made the announcement today.

John Wooden, former UCLA basketball coach will deliver the keynote speech. Known as "The Wizard of Westwood," Wooden's records as a college coach stand unequalled with 88 consecutive victories (previous record 60); 10 NCAA Championships (next best 4); 7 consecutive NCAA Championships (next best 2); 38 consecutive NCAA Tournament victories (previous record 13); 8 undefeated PAC-8 Conference Championships - no other team has ever gone undefeated in PAC-8 play.

He is the only man ever to be inducted into the National Basketball Hall of Fame as a player and as a coach.

Other special guests will include: KSTW-TV Sportcaster Bob Robertson, as master of ceremonies; Vada Pinson, hitting coach for the Seattle Mariners; Stan Naccarato, Executive Vice President and general manager, Tacoma Tigers; Derek Smethurst, Seattle Sounders; The Wheedle, Seattle Supersonics; and the Seahawk-Seattle Seahawks.

The kickoff signals the start of United Way of Pierce County's annual campaign for 89 programs in 49 human care agencies. The 1980 goal is $3,000,000, an 18.1% increase over last year's attainment. It is estimated that more than 183,000 people in Pierce County were served by United Way agencies in 1979.

The luncheon event is open to the public at a cost of $6.50 per person. Reservations are requested and can be made by calling United Way: 272-4263.
